

'OUT THERE'

A DVD highlighting positive aspects of lesbian, gay and bisexual lives

'Out There' is a new DVD from the Centre for HIV & Sexual Health highlighting the positive aspects of lesbian, gay and bisexual lives and can be used in both formal and informal education settings. The DVD provides positive images of lesbian, gay and bisexual people, using real life abstracts and focusing on people's hobbies, passions and daily activities.

The DVD is accompanied by a training guide and is suitable for organisations wishing to promote a more positive and balanced image of lesbian, gay and bisexual people.

"I welcome this excellent new resource which will assist organisations in challenging homophobia and prejudice. 'Out There' is a resource which will ultimately have a positive impact on the health of lesbians, gay men and bisexual people."

Sir Bob Kerslake
Chief Executive, Sheffield City Council

"...The making of this DVD is very timely, given the significant legislative changes that have been implemented since 2000 that affect the lives of LGB people...These are voices that are often not articulated and they are important for others in a similar position to hear..."

Max Biddulph
Independent Sexual Health Trainer

"...A well produced and professional resource to assist in raising awareness concerning gay issues."

Vic Codling
National Co-ordinator, Gay Police Association

"... A well crafted DVD with an educational message...it is embracing and informative whilst engaging and accessible. It is life affirming, joyous and thought provoking."

Dr Rhona Jackson
Head of Media Studies, University of Derby

"All the people featured come across very well, are articulate and...because they are speaking about their own personal experiences, the message comes across well."

Ann Durbin
Executive Director, FFLAG

"One of the best resources I have ever seen on this subject."

Kim Wilson, PSHE Lead
